

Alexey Volostnov

Director, Russia

Frost & Sullivan

Alexey has 6+ years' research and consulting experience activities across various industries with a focus on Russia, CIS and Latin America markets.

Alexey possesses diverse consulting experience, having lived and worked in Russia as well as in Central and Latin America region. He is fluent in Russian, English and Spanish.

Industry and professional expertise:

- Energy generation,
- Commercial due-diligence for M&A projects in various sectors,
- Microelectronics and IT applications
- Market entry strategy development
- Automotive industry

Prior to joining Frost & Sullivan, Alexey worked for the Russian Government and in PricewaterhouseCoopers Russia where he was involved in various consulting projects.

Experience:

- New market entry strategy development and evaluation for leading Russian companies,
- IPO support projects for various Russian companies including healthcare and retail segments
- Competitive Intelligence for existent and new markets in Latin America and CIS,
- Legislative and political evaluation of market entry limitations for Russian companies in Latin America.

Alexey has a Master degree in Scientific-technology International relations by Moscow physics-engineering institute.